MURDER AND SUICIDE.

SPECULATION AS TO WHAT IS LIABLE TO TAKE PLACE.

A Rumor that Secretary Lamar Will Be Appointed to the Supreme Beach, and That General Vilas Will Leave the Postoffice Department-Other News.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 .- Much speculation is being indulged in here with regard to cabinet changes which may be the outcome of Secretary Lamar's appointment to the supreme bench. It has been intimated that Postmaster General Vilas will leave the postoffice department to assume the interior portfolio, and Assistant Postmaster Stevenson is spoken of as his successor. There is probably no foundation for this rumor.

Mr. Vilas said yesterday, in language more forcible than elegant, that the stories printed relative to this change were the merest guess work. "If I were to disclose anything that I might know with regard to the president's intensions," he said, "I would deserve to be dismissed from the cabinet. I am free to say, knowever, that these reports are idle speculations, based on nothing."

A prominent official of the interior department said: "Secretary Lamar will go upon the supreme bench in the course of a few weeks. Of that there can be no doubt. The president recently said in addressing a delegation of politicians who had called to press the claims of a well known Democrat for the position that the newspapers had already decided the matter for him, and that he was willing in this case to abide by their decision. It is accepted as a settled fact in this department that Secretary Lamar is soon to resign, and plans are being made accordingly. Of course the question of his successor is an absorbing one, but it is generally believed that the president will not choose an outsider at this juncture. I have noticed the rumors with regard to Col. Vilas, but took no stock in them. He is congenially located where he is, and could not hope to add to his reputation in a single year in this department.

"Assistant Secretary Muldrow will unquestionably be selected as Mr. Lamar's successor. His familiarity with the work of the several branches of this great office, tireless industry and his entire accord with the present administration of the department eminently fit him to carry on the reforms which Secretary Lamar has inaugurated. He has labored faithfully to add to the credit of his chief, and it would be a very graceful act for Mr. Lamar to urge upon the president the advisability of the appointment. I know that Mr. Lamar expects the president will tender the promo-tion to Mr. Muldrow."

Interior department officials are of the opinion that J. D. G. Hawkins, the present second assistant, will be given the vacancy occasioned by the elevation of Mr. Muidrow to the secretaryship. There is a well organ-ized movement among Indiana politicians, however, to urge upon the president the appointment of Assistant Land Commissioner Stockslager as first assistant secretary. A gentleman from that state said to-day:

"I believe that the president expects to be a very unwise move for the reason that a new man could be nothing but a figurehead in that position for a year to come and would seriously embarrass the work of the department. Mr. Stockslager is thoroughly acquainted with the land question, which constitutes the most important work out of office, and of the general affairs of the department."

Opposition to the Western Union. WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Senator Cullom, who is in this city, is strongly in favor of the government controlling the telegraph systems of the country and will give his at-tention to the construction of a bill touching the matter this winter, now that the interstate law is off his hands. He does not believe in purchasing the Western Union, but thinks that the government should construct its own lines and run the system in connection with the postal system. This could be done for $20,000,000, according to estimates furnished by many electricians. A syndicate composed of the leading journals of the country now propose to buy the United lines. The cities represented are New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis. The papers in these cities now expend annually over $1,000,000 for tolls, and the construction of additional southern lines is proposed.

Other miners in southern Indiana followed, and over two hundred men quit work in various counties south of the Ohio & Mississippi railroad. They get nearly all they asked.

CHANGES IN THE CABINET. A Cincinnati Woman Throws Her Child From a Window and Jumps After It.
CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 1.—"Oh, dont, mamma! Oh, Mamma! mamma! "
These were the wild, agonized cries beard as 211 Browne street, at 8 a. m. The voice was that of a boy, and the cries were louder and louder until the last cry of mamma increased into a despairing shriek. Two dull sounds were heard, but little to be noticed in the noise and confusion of a great city like this. They were the death blows of > cent child. The mother was a suicide; the child had been murdered by her hands. The mother had taken her ten-year-old child out of its bed and had thrown her out of the third-story window, and had then jumped out after her. The child was bruised about the body and so internally injured that her death is only a question of hours. The mother fell head foremost upon the brick paving by the side of her child. The brains were dashed from the left side of her head and she was instantly ushered into eternity.

The woman was Kate, the thirty-twoyear-old wife of Charles Miller, the salconist of Court and Central avenue. The girl was his daughter, Lio.a, aged ten. The one who uttered the agonized shricks upon beholding the tragedy was his son Alvin, aged twelve. The cause of the wife's horrible act was the husband and father's drunkenness, neglect and cruelty.

Hunting For a Murderer. HEFLIN, Ala., Nov. 1. — Sunday two lynching parties scoured the county for Richard Mayo, who murdered R. C. Orr in this town Saturday night. During the day one of the younger Mayos was drinking with Orr. Richard Mayo heard of it, and demanded that Orr should not drink with his brother any more. Orr went home and went to sleep, from which he was awakened after nightfall by Dick Mayo, who stood over him with a drawn bowie knife, cursing and swearing. Orr jumped out of bed and grappled with his antagonist, disarming him after having received several ugly cuts. Mayo then went away breathing vengeance. About 10 o'clock a call was heard at Orr's gate, as if somebody was in distress. As soon as Orr stepped out of his door to answer the call three shots were fired at him in rapid succession, one of which penetrated his heart. With a yell of delight Mayo rushed forward, and taking a good view of his victim disappeared in the darkness. The citizens were at once aroused and organized a party for immediate pursuit. A second party went out Sunday morning. They both expressed their determination of lynching the murderer.

An Aeronaut's Frightful Death. St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 1.—At the closing performance of Pine's "Last Days of Pompeli" a terrible accident occurred, resulting in the death of Antonio Infantes. Sunday night being the last of the season for the spectacle, Antonio Infantes proposed to make a balloon ascension. Shortly after 9 o'clock the balloon, a hot-air affair, was brought outo the immence stage before the audience of 2,000 people. The air-ship started upward quickly and had attained a height of 500 feet when there was a collapse holding desperately to the ropes which held the sagging canvas. The descent was very rapid, and as he came down before the audisnoe he was thrown upon an iron rod from which rockets were being fired. Death ensued immediately. The havrifled spectators rushed to the scene, but could give no aid, and the place was quickly deserted, the "Last Days of Pompeii" ending with a horrible catastrophe.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—The first meeting of the executive board of the Knights of Labor since the holding of the Minacapotis convention takes place to-day. The effect of the so-called manifesto issued by J. R. Buchanan, of the Chicago Labor Enquirer, who was not permitted to take a seat at the convention, and which met with the approval of several other disappointed delerates, has created no perceptible impression iere. Secretary Litchman says it is not even likely to be mentioned in any official way at the meeting. It is reported here today that District Assembly No. 126 will be reinstated, and that this is the most important matter coming up before the board for discussion. So far as the "kickers" are concerned, it is felt here that they have no influence likely to lead to a disturbance of the order, and that it would afford general satisfaction if they sever their connection with it, as they threaten to do.

It seems these two men went where fifty ounds of giant powder was deposited, and by some mysterious means this destructive slement was exploded. Their bodies were literally torn to shreds; not enough of either body was recovered to show the semblance of a man. Both were married and had famlies living in this city.

Chicago Being Posted With Anarchistic Notices to Workmen.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 .- The sheriff and the police department were considerably agi-tated yesterday by the circulation from an unknown source, Lirough the mails, of the following c.reuler, which is without signature or identification:

Cattiembu's Convention. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 1.-The largest convention of cattlemen and stock breeders ever assembled in the United States is now in session here, having formally commenced proceedings this morning. More than a thousand delegates are in attendance, and invitations have been issued to over five thousand representative cattle dealers in various parts of the country to join in the movement of the National Cattle and Horse Growers' association to localize the cattle and packing trade and traffic further westward. For some time past Armour and other great packers of Chicago have recognized the growing advantages offered by Kansa City as a central distributing point for meat products, and have already established branch houses and depots here. The convention has business before it likely to last several days. Its deliberations will be watched with great interest by railroad men, as well as by the eastern packers. It is reported that whenever the outcome of the great convention may be in other directions, it will lead to a speedy development of the cattle trade and industries here and prove of incalculable interest alike to the city and state.

Tuc Indian Troubles. Chow Agency, Mont., Nov. 1.—Maj. Snyder, wit three troops of the Fifth infantry, left Fort Custer Saturday morning and arrived at the agency about noon, just in time to prevent what seemed to have been a preconcerted attack on the single company of thirty-four men stationed here. At 10 a.m. a large party of Indians under the leadership of Sword Bearer rods up close to the bluff's just above the camp and ald a council. In a few moments parties of four Indians each rode down towards the camp, completely surrounding it. whole bunch of Indians then drew their rifles out of the slings on their saddles and just as they began making threatening motions the head of the column of Maj. Snyder's command appeared. The Indians immediately withdrew. The cavalry are expected to move to-day.

Time for Action. CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. J.—Mortgages on hundreds of thousands of acres of farming land in this state in favor of the Corbin Banking company, of New York, and the Scottish Land company mature soon, and there is much discussion as to whether something can not be done to prevent foreclosure, by which the lands would pass into the hands of these alien companies. The rates of interest on the mortgages is from 10 to 20 per cent., and the farmers in nine cases out of ten are unable to pay any of the principal. The legislature will be urged to enact some measures to protect the unfortunate farmers, and it is thought that the mortgages can be declared void on the ground of usury.

. The Whale Catch. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. L.—This season has proved most successful for the Pacific whalers. The catch reported up to date is 255 whales, which at an average of $5,000 to a fish, makes the total value of the catch $1,325,000, which is the largest for many years. It has also been a particularly fortunate season in the fact that no vessels Williamsburg, were startled about 9:30 were lost, which is an unusual record, p. m. yesterday by several pistol shots in When the news of the failure of the whalers the apartments of Louis Phailer, aged in the Atlantic was made public it was believed that the prices of oil and bone would in the Atlantic was made public it was be-lieved that the prices of oil and bone would be considerably enhanced, but the extraordinary catch on this side of the continent will tend largely toward keeping prices at their normal figures.

A FEARFUL LOSS OF LIFE ON LAKE MICHIGAN.

The Steamer Vernon Wrecked and Goes Down Carrying With it AK Her Passons gers and Crew-No one Escapes to Tell the Story-A List of the Known Lost-CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 1 .- The large passens ger steamer Vernon, of the Northern Michigan line, went down in Lake Michigan during Saturday's fearful storm, on her return from northern ports. Fragments of her have been picked up, but it is not believed that a single soul escaped. As no register of passengers was kept the loss is unknown, but is estimated at fifty persons.

The last place the Vernon stopped was at Northport, where she took on a load of staves for Milwaukee. The steamer cost $65,000, and some claim that to attain great speed her builders had sacrificed sta-

Capt. Moran, of the steamer Superior, passed some of the passengers and crew of e ill fated Vernon, who were in a yawl, but could do nothing for them, as the Su-perior was badly disabled. It was bitter cold on the lake, and it is not likely any who chanced to escape in small boats could survive the night. Late last night the schooner Blazing Star arrived in Chicago and reported having passed through a great quantity of wreck-age at I o'clock Saturday afternoon. The crew counted the bodies of ten dead men, each with a cork life preserver strapped around it. They also saw a living man perched on top of the roof of a cabin. He was shouting for help, but although his cries could be distinctly heard the crew of the ve-sel say they were powerless to render any assistance. The schooner Horace H. Badger passed through the wreckage later in the day and sighted two bodies. Probably not less than thirty and perhaps fifty persons perished with the steamer. The exact number may never be known. Only one list of the passengers and crew was kept, and that was aboard of the Vernon. There is no survivor to tell the story. The managers of the line say the crew numbered between twenty-three and twenty-six, and they know the names of only eight, Whee smen, firemen and deck-hands are changed so frequently that no effort is made to keep a list of them. The following is a revised list of the lost: Clifford Baumgras, of Chicago, passenger. Mrs. Sarah Durkin, of Chicago, passenger. Miss Kate Gallagher, of Macinac Island, passenger. Mrs. Dunleavy, of St. James, Beaver Island, passenger.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE

Cincinnati Visited by Another Big Blaze. $150,000 Loss. CINCINNATI, Nov. 1 .- A very destructive fire broke out at 1:40 p. m. in the cellar of the American Cotton Oil Stock company's building, on Sixth street, between Cuivert and Broadway. The flames were first discovered issuing from a portion of the cellar where three hundred-barrel tanks of oil were stored. An alarm of fire was at once turned in, and was followed by a second and third alarm combined, calling all the engines in the city, except the reserves, to the rescue. It was soon found that nothing could be done towards saving the building as the fire was very intense, owing to the vast amount of crude and refined oil stored on every floor and in the two cellars of the immense building. The flames shot upward in vast volumes, forming a terrible flery pile which it was impossible to approach owing to the immense heat. The spectacle was terrifically grand and awe-inspiring.

The structure which was thus being consumed was four stories in height, besides the two cellars, and covered an area of one hundred and Ifty feet by sixty in size. There was an immense quantity of oil in stock, worth fully $50,000, all of which went up in a vast sea of flame. The burned building with contents was valued at $150,000 and is only partially insured. The policies are mostly placed in Globe and New York insurance companies.

At 1:50 p. m. it was feared that the flames would spread to the adjoining architectural iron works, owned by J. C. Walton & Co., and also to the Ireland Manufacturing company's premises, near by. Three dwellings, owned by John Frey, of the Dennison house, were also in imminent danger, and the ef-forts of the firemen were directed altogether towards saving these structures. About this time two large tanks exploded with a terrible noise, blowing up part of the building and creating a great panic. Among the spectators rumors of death in the fire were

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to have been the result of spontaneous combustion in the cellar. The south wall of the building fell at 2:15 p. m. with a terrible crash, but no one was hurt.

Liverpool Merchant Locked Up. Cincago, Nov. 1 .- Mr. Alfred Hey wood, s Liverpool merchant, said to be worth over $300,000, spent Saturday night in a cell at the county jail in this city. He was ar-rested at the instance of a former employe, who had begun a trespass suit against him for $500, in order that he might give ball so as to satisfy any judgment that might be found sgainst him when the case came to trial. Owing to the lateness of the hour when the arrest was made Mr. Hey wood was unable to find bondsmen, and so was compelled to accompany a deputy sher ...' to the jail, where he remained un il morning.

Bound Over For Murder.

Manison, Ind., Nov. 1 .- Frank Schelers, failed Saturday night on a charge of murder for killing Frank Smith, was brought before Judge Friedley on a writ of habeas corpus, and admitted to bail, with consent of Prosecutor Suizer, in the sum of $2,000.
